Traders Point church of Christ-Keith Corder, Elder

The building process was fairly intimidating to us with several challenges but T&W made the process easy to understand and walked us through each step. Every construction project has challenges throughout the building phase but we found T&W great problem solvers and very fair in dealing with the "unknowns" that invariably show up. I've found many companies trade on the idea that they hold spiritual values but T&W demonstrated fairness and care for others. This fairness was demonstrated even after project completion. T&W stands behind their product.

Most Sincerely,

Keith Corder, Elder-Traders Point church of Christ
